

LAMPORT GENERAL SYSTEMS

- Lamport General Systems is a first-person immersive sim set in a derelict facility where Byzantine fault-tolerant networks have turned dysfunctional and hostile. As a lone technician, you manipulate these adaptive systems through message interception, code injection, and physical sabotage while deciding whether to repair or destroy each subsystem. The facility's interconnected networks create emergent situations where player actions ripple through individual subnetworks and across the broader system, rewarding creative problem-solving and systemic understanding.

